

Mill Bench

BENCH: Ref. 2020

The Mill Bench is a limited-edition of 5. Made to commission to be housed in an old mill, it was designed to be sympathetic to existing furniture in the room. This in turn informed the shape and the detailing of the legs.

This bench is designed to sit at the end of a bed, with the Silestone tray providing a space to prepare morning tea! The end of the bolster cushion has been embroidered to reflect the idea of a millstone and can be moved along the cushion seat as desired.

The bench can be adapted and designed to suit any room.

Timber options (many options and combinations are available)

The Flour Mill Bench forms part of Edward's Sussex Collection. It can be adapted and tailored to suit your requirements. For example:

- Choose from an extensive range of fabrics
- The whole bench seat can be upholstered (without stone tray)
- Designed with or without bolster cushions
- Choice of one or two bolster cushions

Please get in touch to discuss the many options available.
